

Matthew B. Martin, M.D., F.A.C.S.

Originally from Baytown, Texas, Dr. Martin received his BA from Rice University and his M.D. from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. His internship and residency were completed at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem and included a clinical research fellowship. He joined Drs. Farley, Abrams and Streck in Greensboro in 1985. In 1995 their practice became Triad Surgical Specialists, which merged with Greensboro Surgical Associates in 1999 to become Central Carolina Surgery, P.A.

David H. Newman, M.D., F.A.C.S.

A native of Fayetteville, NC, Dr. Newman completed his undergraduate work at Wake Forest and he received his M.D. at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. He then served his internship and surgical residency at the University of South Carolina and joined Drs. John Lyday and Thomas Price in 1985. He became a part of Triad Surgical Specialists in 1995 and subsequently became part of Central Carolina Surgery, P.A. in 1999.

Benjamin T. Hoxworth, M.D., F.A.C.S.

Dr. Hoxworth was born and grew up in Cincinnati. He graduated from Miami of Ohio and received his medical degree from the University of Cincinnati. He completed both his internship and residency at Vanderbilt University, as well as a fellowship in nutrition and metabolism. In 1987, he joined Dr. William Weatherly's practice here in Greensboro. In 1995, he became a member of Triad Surgical Specialists, which subsequently merged to form Central Carolina Surgery, P.A. in 1999.

Kristen R. Earle, M.D., F.A.C.S.

Dr. Earle is a graduate of Bowling Green State University and received her M.D. from Ohio State University. She completed her surgical residency at Ohio State University Hospitals in Columbus before coming to Greensboro in 1996. Dr. Earle practiced with Greensboro Surgical Associates and merged to form Central Carolina Surgery, P.A. in 1999.